Car Boot Sale – 2 Oct 21

Do you have any unwanted treasures?

Bring your goods to the car boot sale sponsored by the Callala Bay Community Association.

It will be held on Saturday 2 October at the Netball Courts, opposite Callala Shops in Emmett Street. Start time is 8:00am and finish at 1:00pm. (Entry is via the Callala Community Centre driveway).

To register and reserve your space, please notify CBCA at admin@callalabaycommunityassociation.com. The fee of $10.00 is payable on the day and the Soccer Club will be providing a bar-b-que to sustain you.

So come along and get rid of your 'clutter' while supporting your community.

Medical Report

The team at Callala medical centre reminds and encourage the community in supporting the national effort of vaccinating the whole population against covid 19. We have (at the moment) a consistent supply of the Astra Zeneca vaccine and we are taking on new patients for the purpose of covid 19 vaccination.

Unfortunately, like many other regional towns, we have still not been able to secure another GP yet, but we are actively looking, and endeavour to be able to take on new patients eventually given the growth in this town of late.

Bushcare Report

Given the grimness of the times, I do try to keep these columns upbeat, but unfortunately this month I do have to be downbeat due to recent environmental vandalism in our area.

Over 20 saplings and small trees have been poisoned along the foreshore and dune area at the end of Mitchell Rd. There are a variety of species involved, but most are Banksia integrifolia, the beautiful trees that are the reason why in the local indigenous language 'Callala' means, 'place of the banksias'.

Apparently when a post about this vandalism was made on Facebook, one reply was 'they're only trees'. That person obviously snoozed through their high school botany lessons on the importance of trees for the continuation of animal/human life on the planet. I think the rest of us know that quite apart from other benefits, trees sequester carbon and give off the oxygen we need to breathe.

On our beach, in basic ecological terms, trees with their extensive root system are a crucial part of slowing the loss of the dune area to erosion. If you walk along the beach from the Mitchell Rd access track to Wowly Creek you can see tree roots exposed all along the edge of the vegetation line. These trees will eventually fall including the largest of them, an Angophora costa. But that is 'natural' erosion or as natural as these things can be as our planet's climate changes quite dramatically.

There has been further vandalism on Callala headland, near Marine Parade and Bay St intersection. At this site, more than 25 trees appear to have been cut down. In the photo below you can see the stumps of two Casuarinas that have been cut down towards the top of the picture. Cut down branches of Banksia integrifolia are in the foreground.

Both these sites now have new signs erected by Council offering $5,000 for information about the vandalism. In time Council workers will replace the trees, but that's our rates paying to replace trees that grew naturally. If you are aware of the background to these latest vandalism sites, please contact Council rangers.

If you would like to become involved with our Callala Bush Care group, please email our Council Co Ordinator Belinda Stewart, Belinda.Stewart@shoalhaven.nsw.gov.au, and she will put you in contact with us. Any queries about information or opinions in this column, my [Diana] phone number is 0419 531 902.

Garden Club

As I write this, NSW is in lockdown for a week which means that our August 21st meeting won't go ahead. We must work through it again and gardening is going to be my saviour. Spring is just round the corner, days are getting warmer, and there are changes in plant growth.

My Sweet Peas are in flower, the Cornflowers are budding, and my mum's Magnolia tree is in full bloom. However, nothing signals Spring like the green leaves and gold blooms of the magnificent wattle. Wattles belong to the genus Acacia and there are over 1000 Australian species. We have adopted the wattle as our country's floral symbol and only a few weeks ago during the Olympic games in Tokyo, our athletes stood proudly in their yellow and green uniform.

When you walk around Callala, the most popular wattle is Acacia Longlifolia, the Golden Wattle. Wattles should be planted in full sun or part shade locations. They grow well in most soil types provided they have good drainage. There are some species that grow into trees, but most wattles are super-fast-growing shrubs. Wattles are a short-lived plant but they look so good when in bloom. They aren't fussy about soil types but do need it to be free draining, so don't plant in soggy spots that are slow to drain after heavy rainfall. Water young trees regularly while they're establishing. During hot days and drought conditions give them a drink to keep them going.

Community Church

Most of us would have filled out our census form just over a week ago. You know what they say? “There are lies, damn lies and statistics!” It is debated who originated the saying, though it appeared in Mark Twain’s biography.

‘Figures often beguile me, particularly when I have the arranging of them myself; in which case the remark attributed to Disraeli would often apply with justice and force: “There are three kinds of lies: lies, damned lies and statistics.”’ - Mark Twain’s Own Autobiography: The Chapters from the North American Review. No doubt we need statistical data to make good decisions, the problem is, sometimes we get so much data it confuses, or, we have conflicting data used by opposing points of view that actually get us nowhere.

There is little doubt that when the census data is compiled, we will find there will be a decline in those who tick the Christian faith box and an increase in those who mark no religion. But what does that mean?

Statistician Ryan Burge argues in his book “The Nones” (Meaning not religious) it is easy in the popular imagination to equate “no religion” with atheism. From sociologists Tim Clydesdale and Kathleen Garces-Foley interviews of Americans in their 20s, they found only 14 per cent did not believe in God at all. Perhaps surprisingly, 35 per cent reported praying on a daily or weekly basis. Perhaps the problem stems more from a move away from church as an institution than belief in a spiritual world.

Understanding what church means requires us to move away from a building location or a denomination, instead see church as the people who meet together.

Despite his drug addiction and an early death Jimmy Hendrix was one of the most celebrated musicians of the 20th century, he did however have an understanding of what the world needs, this comes from his quote; “When the power of love overcomes the love of power the world will know peace”.

That is exactly what Jesus did; Paul writing to the church at Philippi writes:

“Your attitude should be the kind that was shown us by Jesus Christ, who, though he was God, did not demand and cling to his rights as God, but laid aside his mighty power and glory, taking the disguise of a slave and becoming like men. And he humbled himself even further, going so far as actually to die a criminal’s death on a cross”.

What if church was a people who looked like this? People who love each other, are deep-spirited friends. One's who don't push their way to the front; who don't sweet-talk their way to the top. Who put themselves aside, and help others get ahead? Not obsessed with getting their own advantage. Forgetting themselves long enough to lend a helping hand. (Modified from The Message). We as a church might not have reached that standard, although that is our goal. When we are able to meet again, we would love to welcome you,

Kevin Kettlewell (Guest contributor on behalf of Callala Christian Community Church).

Community Garden

What is going on at the Callala Community Garden in these tricky times?

We have filled the new beds with all our beautiful compost made by Diana and the team. Bring us your compostable kitchen scraps and help us make more.

HOT NEWS!...the latest compost batch is officially HOT! A huge thanks to I.G.A. and their vegetable contributions....all that mulched winter veg is doing good things. This is the first time we have managed to get it up to such a high temperature. Lots of good learning happening. Do you have some wool carpet offcuts to cover it and keep it steaming?

We are preparing for SPRING/SUMMER planting using ideas on local conditions, Crop Rotation and Companion Planting. Exciting times!...All that potential! Would you like to raise seeds with us? Contact Gail on 0412930080

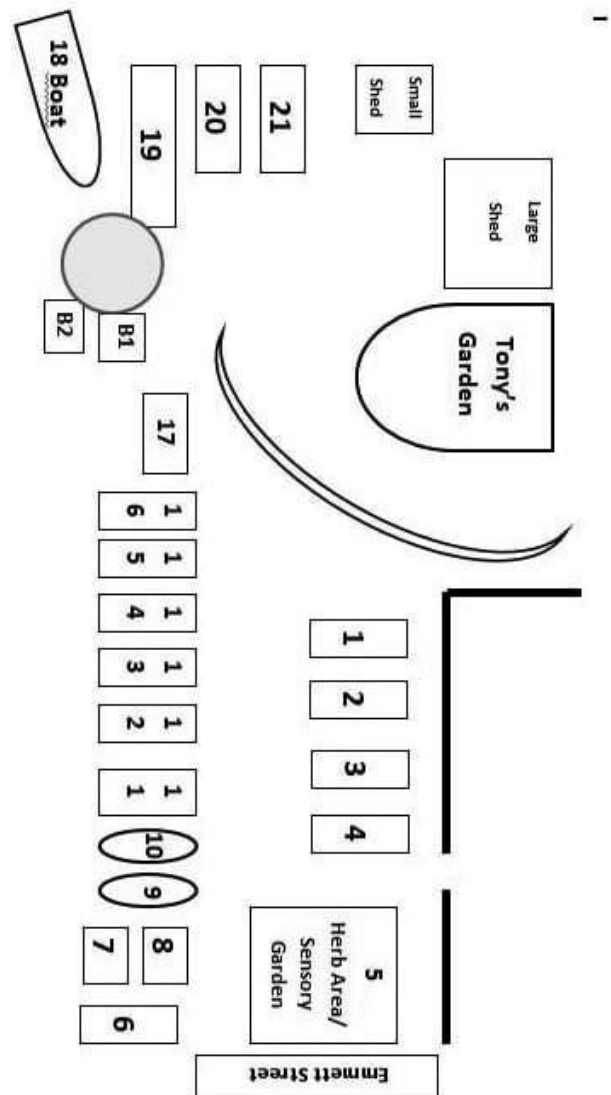

In anticipation, we are designing anti-cockatoo netting to protect our harvest.

To access our harvest , plant sales or produce please join us on Market Days or Working Bee mornings. TUESDAY , THURSDAY and 1ST and 3RD SUNDAYS (COVID restrictions permitting). In lockdown we can only have 2 people working there at a time and we cannot open the garden to the community.

We are cutting herbs to leave at the front if you would like to help yourself

FAMILY FUN MORNING....Hopefully we can start on 24th September as the August one has had to be cancelled ...but who knows.....? . Contact Mhairi on 0490151585

Culburra Beach & Districts Men's Shed

We had a successful day at the Callala Markets on 14 August, and thank our local customers for their support. Numbers were reduced due to the (then) COVID19 restrictions in Greater Sydney, Blue Mountains, Central Coast, Wollongong and Shellharbour.

COVID19 restrictions were extended to regional NSW on the evening of 14 August for 7 days, and have since been extended to 28 August. This forced the Shed to close temporarily.

It's Men's Shed Week from 30 August to 5 September, and the Australian Men's Shed Association (AMSA) is this year celebrating the fundamentals of Men's Sheds:

connection, community and camaraderie.

Men's Sheds play an important role in providing men with a place to connect, a community to belong to and mates that make it all worthwhile.

All Men's Sheds are being encouraged to host Open Days and invite guests in to showcase their Shed. We held our first Open Day last Easter, with great success, and plan another for later this year (subject to COVID19 restrictions). Look out for more details in future articles.

Open Days provide an opportunity to display some of our more bulky products that cannot be easily transported to the Markets. Here are just a few examples.

We'll be at the Callala Markets on 14 September (COVID19 permitting). Please call in and check out our range of timber craft, nest boxes and native bee hotels.

You're always welcome to call into the Shed on Monday or Wednesday mornings, from 9am to 1pm. For more information, or to enquire regarding membership, please call 0499 452095 or visit our Facebook page.

Get tested for COVID-19 if you have cough, sore/scratchy throat, shortness of breath or fever.

New to the area or interested in making new friends and getting out of the house?

Friends of Callala is a friendship group for retirees male & female. It has been running for a number of years, is supported by Shoalhaven City Council and we are members of the Combined Pensioners and Superannuants Assoc.

We meet each Monday at 12 at the Callala Community Centre, bring along sandwich and for a small fee we provide tea/coffee and dessert. Now that we are returning to the 'new normal' and soon to have covid vaccinations available we hope to resume our regular lunches at cafes around the Shoalhaven.

CALLALA BAY PROGRESS HALL - A STORY OF COMMUNITY.

Part III

Following the extension of the Progress Hall in 1979, the big work was yet to come. In 1982, the Callala Bay tennis club, led by its foundation president Joy Trethewey, approached Council about building a tennis court on the land behind the hall/fire shed. John Hatton assisted again, and in 1984 funds were found from the Commonwealth Employment Program for further extensions and renovations to the hall. Total funding for the hall extension was $53,318.

Of this, $48,000 was from the Commonwealth Employment Program and $5000 from the hall management committee. The tennis court also received funding and was built at a cost of $26,000, of which $5000 was cash from the tennis club; $5000 Council cash donation; $8000 Council loan and $8000 a grant from Department of Sport and Recreation. The Mayor Harry Sawkins praised the Callala Bay community for their total fundraising effort raising $10,000.

Things had come a long way from the goose raffle, and the whole community celebrated at the opening of the hall extension and the tennis court on 24 January 1985. John Hatton (MP) was in attendance, and the Mayor Harry Sawkins did the honours of the official opening. A street parade was held; there were clowns, a barbeque, raffles, games and competitions for the kids, and dancing went on into the small hours inside the hall with its wonderful wooden floors.

Progress Association President Tom Douglas with Mayor Harry Sawkins opening the hall extension and tennis court in 1985

At last, the Callala Bay community had got its hall. It had taken 21 years.

In 1992 it truly became just 'the hall' – rather than hall/fire shed – when the fire truck left the shed and moved to the new fire station on Emmett Street, which was opened on 24 October 1992. The fire-shed area of the hall was converted to a meeting room.

CALLALA BAY PROGRESS HALL - A STORY OF COMMUNITY.

Part IIII

Callala Bay continued to grow. It no longer had just the Mitchell's general store, now there were shops on Emmett Street. A primary school was planned (it opened in 2000; previously, the children went to Culburra, or further back in time, to Pyree). More public space was needed, and in 1996 the new community hall on Emmett Street was officially opened, beside the planned school. That hall, with different facilities, helps to serve the multiple needs of Callala Bay's growing community.

The Callala Bay Progress Hall is an essential part of Callala Bay history. It was begun at a time when the most important thing for a small community was to build a place where people could get together. The very first thing the Progress Association wanted back in 1963 was not a sports ground, not even a fire truck, but a hall. It was built with years of local fundraising, hard work and effort.

It has seen playgroups, children's birthday parties, weddings, music nights, birthday parties, craft groups, yoga, folk dancing, worship groups, community fundraising activities; and continues to do that and more. Many of the groups still meeting there have been using the hall for years – like craft (a foundation group); folk dancing (started in 2004) and yoga (since 2008). Other relative newcomers include tai chi and Over '60s Fitness Classes.

Our Callala Bay Progress Hall is a wonderful space that deserves heritage listing, and is an amazing tribute to the resilience of the Callala Bay community that never gave up on its dream.

The end.

Jenny Lindsay and Barb King

Our historic Progress Hall is currently undergoing repairs and repainting and will be reopening in November. We are planning to hold an Open Day celebration once the work is done. Date to be advised. Come visit!

A Great Big Thank You to Club Callala

Club Callala has made a substantial donation towards our new audio-visual upgrade in the Callala Community Centre. When installed, it will have a 110" fixed screen, a state-of-the-art projector, wireless microphone system, a commercial Bluetooth receiver and a new commercial amplifier. What this means is we will be able to offer live TV viewing events, and when coupled with our Emergency Information Hub we could broadcast live News Programs during emergencies. People hiring the Centre for any event can show personal photos or videos or use their own personal play lists. The opportunities to provide new services are very exciting. Thank you so much to Chairman Dennis and the Club Board of Directors for supporting a local Community service and let's look forward to supporting Club Callala when they reopen after Covid.

History Corner

The area surrounding Culburra was originally called Wheeler's Point after the first land holder George Wheeler. Land developer Henry Halloran renamed the area Culburra in the mid 1910's, which has an Aboriginal meaning of "sand".

The township of Culburra was designed by Henry Halloran himself, as landowner, designer, and surveyor.

The original lighthouse at Crookhaven Heads was constructed of timber in 1882 and located as part of the Shoalhaven Pilot Station with a Mr. Thomas Bishop being the first operator.

A new lighthouse to the south of the mouth of the Shoalhaven River was built in 1904 and the old wooden lighthouse was demolished.

The Jerrinja community now situated at Orient Point had a settlement at the base of Berry Mountain north of the Shoalhaven River and were then moved to Orient Point in the first Grant of Land to an Aboriginal community in Australia in the early 1900's. After World War II, when the freedom of movement given by the motor car and the introduction of 4 weeks holidays meant coastal villages, such as Culburra became popular venues for both holidays and retirement.

From The Canberra Times ... Friday 22 January 1954

NAVAL VESSEL STILL AGROUND

The 90-ton naval ship, a general purpose vessel, is still aground on Culburra Beach, 15 miles from Nowra. H.M.A.S. Cootamundra again made an unsuccessful attempt to float her at high tide this afternoon. She broke two tow ropes trying to pull the vessel into deep water.

Shoalhaven Local Environmental Heritage items in the area are:

- Moongate to former Culburra Guesthouse Site: 196 Penguins Head Road Culburra Beach.
- Penguin Head Geological Site: Penguins Head Road Culburra.
- Crookhaven Lighthouse Complex: Prince Edward Avenue Crookhaven Heads.

Collated by the Culburra Beach Progress Association.
